CIO Program

It's not just about the tech...

Because technology implemented without a crystal clear business focus can't yield its true value.

Yes, we implement Big Tech on a global scale; and we use platforms and environments to make a real difference. We help transform organizations. We deliver business value.

Our people, behind the tech, are uncommonly inquisitive. They understand business comes first but they'll try to break it to make it better. But every solution, like every problem, is unique.

Our Deloitte heritage, expertise and global reach gives our people power to do this, giving many different perspectives on what makes business tick.

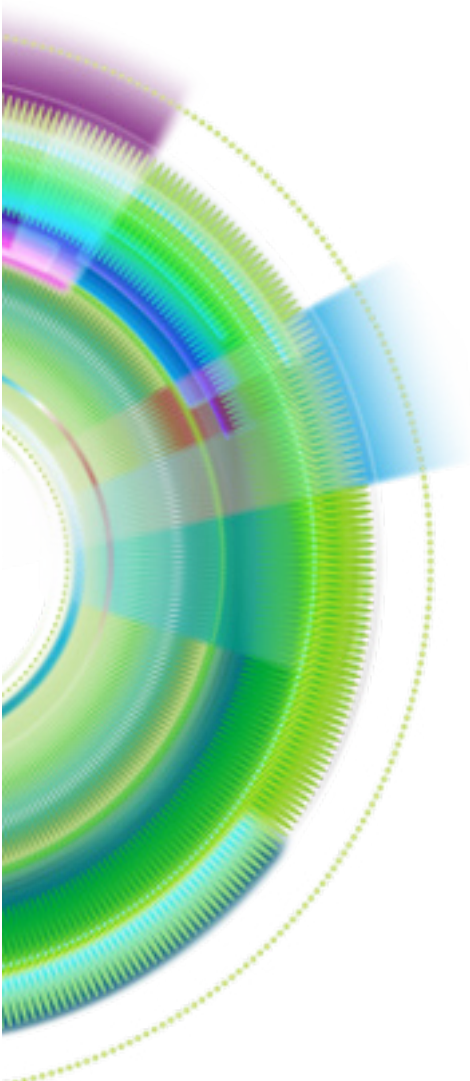

A thick strand of collaboration runs through our firm's DNA. We're powered by partnership and this shows in our culture and the ways we co-operate – among ourselves and together with our clients. Being open comes naturally to us. Through mutual ventures and ecosystems with the world's most progressive digital companies, we're connected in every sense.

We're driven. Move the goalposts. Change the rules. We still play to the final whistle.

And because we're not shackled by the short-termism of the market, we're truly free to help direct the destinies of others.

To play a longer game, investing in our clients and ourselves.

TO MAKE AN IMPACT THAT MATTERS.

The CIO Program

Labs and experiences to guide you through success of your journey

CIO Lab

The CIO Team Lab is a one-day experience built to ensure communication and synergy between the CIO and the team.

Our research has revealed that the three critical resources for new CIOs to effectively leverage for success are their time, talent and relationships.

The transition lab is based on targeted research and interviews with executives who have previously navigated transitions. In more than 700 conversations conducted in the UK, across EMEA, US and LATAM, executives discussed the challenges they faced and successes they achieved during the first 180 days in the role, informing the Transition Lab structure and methodology.

CIO Forum

The CIO Club is a agenda of encounters to discuss about technology trends and hot topics for CIOs and technology leaders.

CIO Academy

The CIO Academy brings together technology executives in a unique opportunity to improve their ability to lead, make decisions and solve problems.

The 2-day meeting provides the possibility to exercise networking with your peers and also with external and internal speakers and various experts on the topics discussed at the academy.

The CIO Academy aims to offer a complete experience to drive the journey of leaders, enabling them to inspire, deliver value and innovate.

Researches

2018-2019 Global CIO Survey

“Personality is not destiny. CIOs are not limited in their ability to deliver value by their personal attributes or their working styles, but are free to shape their own legacy—and to do so, they must be adaptive in the face of evolving business expectations.”
