

Deloitte's Oracle Cloud Rapid Migration Offering Build an innovation-led foundation

Digital technologies are changing how businesses operate and the ways companies engage with customers. Now more than ever, enterprises of all sizes need to be customer-led, insights-driven, fast, and connected.

Financial and Human Capital systems are inherently complex, and with today's rapidly changing technology, leaders have new layers of intricacy to consider. Digital technologies provide finance and HR organizations with new opportunities to create more value and drive smart decision making.

Forward-thinking companies are turning to the digital revolution to reinvent enterprise functions that will enable further innovation and growth. As aging core systems migrate to the Cloud, the new interconnected systems can bring with them benefits including lower IT costs, quicker expansion into new markets and business lines, and real-time reporting. This in turn helps drive finance organizations towards a digital future where work is more efficient and strategically serves the business.

However, to be able to realize these benefits efficiently, companies should consider a rapid transition to the cloud. Deloitte's Oracle Cloud Rapid Migration offering provides a compelling value proposition to finance and HR organizations that are looking to accelerate their adoption of Oracle Cloud.

Deloitte's Oracle Cloud Rapid Migration offering seeks to amplify and accelerate your organization's value capture through a digital foundry that can deliver innovative solutions in weeks. Built to leverage the scalable strength of Oracle Cloud ERP applications, our offering prioritizes core foundational finance plus HR operational features and capabilities that can positively impact operational drivers.

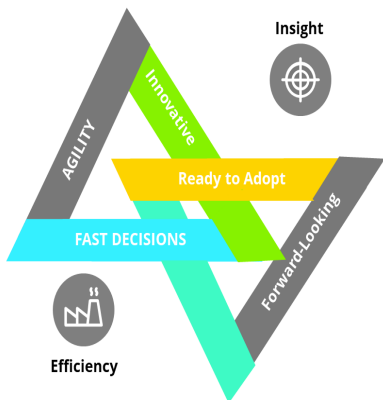

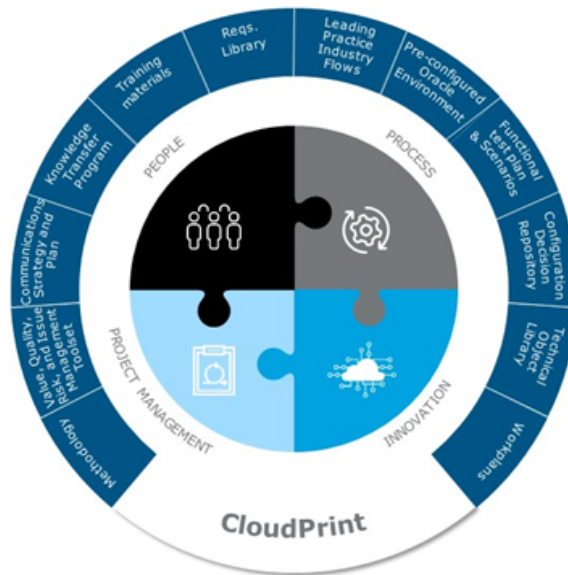

By building upon this foundation, companies can move swiftly to help reduce operational costs, consolidate, add or divest businesses, increase productivity, and gain better insight from their financial and HR data. The straightforward nature of the offering can help provide value and velocity to your finance, HR and IT organizations by bringing agility, accessibility, and real-time processing capabilities to the forefront.
