Alumni Newsletter January 2023

Dear Alumni,

I hope this message finds you and yours safe, healthy, and full of excitement for what 2023 will bring. It is our pleasure to greet you in this new year with the latest edition of our Deloitte Alumni newsletter.

In the last year, we stayed true to our aims as a purpose-led organization, with achievements big and small shared in our 4th annual Impact Report. Together, our people are working to build better futures for our clients, our community, and themselves through innovative thinking, state-of-the-art technology, and long-term investments that focus on sustainability.

The investments we make start and end with our commitment to our people: by ensuring they can solve tomorrow's challenges with the latest tech in their toolbox, by providing continuous growth opportunities through individualized and self-directed learning paths, and by helping them find a work-life balance through a flexible working model.

Now and always, the Deloitte Luxembourg Experience centres on work that matters and relationships that last. Our work would not be possible without the constellation of people who form our greater Deloitte community – a constellation of which you are an important part.

After a few challenging years that kept us often apart, it has been a gift to reconnect with so many of our treasured Colleagues for Life. I hope to see you again at our second annual DLuxNights event later this year.

Until then, take care,

Kind regards,

John Psaila,
Managing Partner
