Curated Reading from the Best of Deloitte

Understanding the five competencies of transformational technology leadership

Today's technology leaders understand their role has changed. It's not enough to be an expert or specialist or independent operator. Instead, technology leadership is now a team sport—and this places an emphasis on the abilities of leaders to collaborate, communicate, coordinate, and co-create. Tech leaders should lead a synchronized team with multiple talents and competencies, all working toward the transformation of the enterprise. Deloitte's 2023 Global Technology Leadership Study shows how savvy tech leaders are not only rising to this challenge but also charting new career paths for themselves and the people on their teams.

What does it take to run a Metaverse?

Metaverse capabilities for the consumer, enterprise, and industrial sectors face performance requirements: handling and processing large amounts of data and powering real-time capabilities that demand extremely fast responses. Whether it's for human users interfacing with rich interactive experiences or for vast arrays of connected things generating and operating on data, networks need to be nimble and resilient, and computation should be instantly available and scalable. Leaders who are planning and developing metaverse capabilities should consider how these solutions may have unique requirements for networks, computation, and services.

Inflation and the State of the US Consumer

Prolonged inflation has taken its toll on consumers' finances. Even as inflation rates show signs of easing, roughly four in ten Americans surveyed in Deloitte's Global State of the Consumer Tracker feel financially worse off compared to a year ago. Many continue to cite concerns around savings, and nearly half still say they're delaying large purchases. We review the sense of financial well-being of American consumers in this latest edition of our regular consumer survey.

Thorny topics for the Audit Committee

The audit committee's work is key to trust, but its agenda is developing fast: What are the thorny topics audit committees are wrestling with? How should boards be thinking about forecasts in this challenging economic and geopolitical environment? How can audit committees make judgements with markets shifting so rapidly? What is the audit committee's role in driving to net zero? How will the ISSB's recently announced climate-related disclosure standards affect how audit committees address ESG reporting? How can audit committees manage these with an already full agenda, including broader risk management responsibilities, oversight of cyber defenses, broader internal controls, and an ever-changing regulatory landscape?

Join our distinguished panel, which includes Janine Guillot, former CEO of SASB and former Special Advisor to the International Sustainability Standards Board (ISSB), Tushar Morzaria, Non-executive director BP plc, Legal & General plc, and Chairman of EMEA Investment Banking at Barclays plc, and Theresa Taylor, Board President, CalPERS, in discussion with Joe Ucuzoglu, Deloitte Global CEO as moderator to learn more.

Challenges for Remuneration Committees

This year's remuneration committee agenda will likely continue to be dominated by topics related to net zero and other ESG matters, including employee well-being. How transparent is executive pay? Are windfall gains included in executive pay? How are remuneration committees balancing the interests of all stakeholders while attracting executive talent? What will be the forward-looking issues for remuneration committees tomorrow?

In this webinar, we are joined by Sheri McCoy, Compensation Committee Chair, AstraZeneca, Kimberly Clark; Lead Independent Director, Stryker Corp; Board member, Galderma, Laronde; Chair, Parexel International Corp. She will also be joined by two other panelists.
