

Deloitte Global Boardroom Program

Last chance to register for our upcoming webinars on Climate and Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG) and a special Asia Pacific focused webinar

Dear members of the Deloitte Global Boardroom Program:

September is the return to work for many of you in the Northern hemisphere, after restful summer holidays. The Deloitte Boardroom program is back at it, too, providing you with actionable insights – including two webinars with a focus on Climate, ESG and Trust. For those of you in the Asia-Pacific and EMEA regions, please take this last opportunity to register for a special Asia Pacific time zone webinar discussion on 6 September on ESG, Climate, and Trust: The Board's Role.

We also invite you to join us on 12 September for a webinar at our normal time (11 am New York/4 pm London) on The Climate Challenge: The Role of the Chair. We will also preview early results of Deloitte's research into the changing role of board chairs around the world, with respect to climate and sustainability.

Please continue to share these newsletters with your boardroom and C-suite colleagues where you can.

Best wishes,

Dan Konigsburg

Deloitte Global Boardroom Program Leader

OUR UPCOMING WEBINARS IN SEPTEMBER

Special Asia Pacific time zone webinar: ESG, Climate, and Trust: The Board's Role

Businesses find themselves at a critical juncture as shareholders, regulators, governments, and other stakeholders are increasingly focused on climate and sustainability. How can boards ensure a sustainable, long-term future for their organizations, while reinforcing trust among customers, shareholders, employees, and the wider public?

In this webinar we will be joined by a distinguished panel of leaders, Chris Lu, board member, Weibo Corporation, Honma Golf Ltd; global COO/CFO, FIT Hon Teng Ltd; and Hina Nagarajan, board member, BP PLC; managing director and CEO, United Spirits Limited (Diageo India); member of the global executive committee, Diageo PLC; in conversation with David Hill, Deloitte Asia Pacific CEO. They will examine what leading boards are doing to establish a meaningful ESG, climate, and trust agenda in the boardroom, and lessons learned about how to build and retain trust.

The Climate Challenge: The Role of the Chair

The role of chair continues to evolve. Now, more than ever, the chair's role is recognized—as strategic partner of the CEO, as the ambassador for the company, as a leader of culture and talent, and of course as the board conductor—and all have become critical to success. But what is the chair's role with respect to climate?

To help answer this question, we will be joined by a distinguished panel of chairs including Lorenzo Bini Smaghi, chair of the board of directors, Société Générale; Sheila Murray, board chair, Teck Resources, board member BCE Inc, Trustee Granite REIT and Jennifer Steinmann, Deloitte global sustainability & climate leader in discussion with Sharon Thorne, former chair, Deloitte global, as moderator. We will hear about Deloitte research into the changing role of board chairs around the world with respect to the climate challenge.

UPCOMING 2023 GLOBAL BOARDROOM PROGRAM WEBINARS

Deloitte Global Boardroom Program discussions are open to Board members and Senior Executives. Please do share the invitation with your Board and Executive Committee colleagues who may be interested. If you are unable to attend because of time zone differences or scheduling conflicts, please register for the session and we will send you a link to the recording to watch at your convenience.

Talent and the Board

The great resignation, quiet-quitting, pandemic-related convulsions in the workforce: in the post-pandemic economy, talent is on the Board's agenda as never before. But how do the best boards work with management, the CHRO and the rest of the HR and talent team to bring these issues to the fore? How can board members' experiences elsewhere usefully be brought to bear?

To answer these questions, we will be joined by Jean-Christophe Deslarzes, chair, Adecco Group and Constellium; Michael Fraccaro, chief people officer, Mastercard Inc; Bernard Ramanantsoa, board member, Orange Belgium SA, dean emeritus HEC Paris and Lynn Utter, board member, Vista Outdoor Inc., Lincoln National Corp, operating partner, Atlas Holdings LLC.

Geopolitics in the year ahead: The US, Europe, and Asia in 2024

2023 saw devastation in eastern Europe, rising tensions between China and the US, high energy costs and food security concerns driven by the war in Ukraine. As we look towards 2024, what geopolitical landscape should companies expect? How will the looming US presidential election affect the geopolitical landscape? What can we expect from Europe and an expanded NATO? What will happen inside Russia? How is China thinking about its role in the world?

In this discussion, we will explore emerging geopolitical themes in the US, Europe, and China that boards should consider as they look forward to 2024. Our distinguished panel includes Anthony L Gardner, US ambassador to the European Union (2014-2017); second vice-chair, Iberdrola; executive adviser, Brookfield Asset Management; senior adviser, Brunswick Group and Shahira Knight, Deloitte US managing principal of policy & government relations, and former director of White House legislative affairs.

Future of tech: Artificial intelligence (AI)

Artificial intelligence (AI) is not new, but rapidly expanding technologies and evolving consumer digital preferences and expectations have generated intense interest in leveraging AI to help achieve efficiencies, increase competitive advantage, and enhance engagement with customers/clients and other stakeholders. This Board Practices Quarterly article from the Deloitte US Center for Board Effectiveness presents findings from a survey of members of the Society for Corporate Governance that focused on aspects of AI, including where in the organization AI resides, use policies/framework, risk mitigation measures, education and training, and board oversight.

EU regulation drives the sustainability transition

The push for a more sustainable world is growing, but not fast enough. We are on track to miss the goal of keeping global warming under 1.5 degrees celsius by 2050. This means companies across industries are under more pressure from consumers, investors, and employees to speed up the shift to net zero and handle the associated risks and opportunities.

Green hydrogen: Energizing the path to net zero

According to Deloitte's recent economic analysis, green hydrogen holds significant potential in attaining net-zero goals by 2050. Embracing green hydrogen could provide a crucial opportunity to effectively decarbonize the planet, surmounting current constraints and issues associated with fossil fuels and emission-intensive technologies. Acting promptly on this prospect can lead to both economic and environmental advantages for those who seize it.

Beyond Productivity: The journey to the quantified organization

In recent years, work has undergone a significant shift, with the hybrid workforce becoming standard and data and AI transforming how we operate. Utilizing these new data sources effectively can offer a comprehensive organizational perspective by focusing on meaningful measurements rather than mere possibilities. This article argues that now is the opportune moment to leverage technology, empower your workforce, and generate shared value for your organization, people, and society at large.
