NextGen Regulatory Reporting: Compliance with confidence

Regulatory reporting represents a critical challenge, and the risks of getting things wrong are only increasing. Yet, as with so many institutions, a combination of disparate legacy systems, siloed information, and slow, outdated processes means data quality and control are not where you need them to be. The chance for errors is high, and your compliance costs are only growing higher.

NextGen Regulatory Reporting changes the picture, giving you the scalability, traceability, and efficiency required to keep up with today's regulatory demands. Based on tried and tested Google Cloud technology, and implemented by the experienced financial services team at Deloitte, NextGen Regulatory Reporting gives you the power to accelerate and simplify your reporting capability, while enhancing control and governance.

Generate accurate reports faster. Improve transparency and lineage. Enhance data consistency. Reduce risk. It's time to reinvent the game with NextGen Regulatory Reporting.

Key Benefits

Agility

- Simplify and accelerate your reporting from a single data layer, reducing processes which used to take several hours down to minutes.
- Scale your operations up or down and accelerate performance, all while managing costs, thanks to the platform's cloud-native flexibility.

Efficiency

- Replace physical reports with on-demand, API-driven reporting, positioning you to deliver the consistency and granularity regulators will expect in the long term.
- Reduce complexity with a single data flow for both operational and management information reports.

Clarity

- Run financial and regulatory processes from the same data simultaneously, delivering consistent results.
- Trace balances back to the original source information easily, enhancing accountability, data ownership and lineage.

Control

- Reproduce reports from current or previous quarters accurately, thanks to robust code and data versioning.
- Maintain all your data in one place, ensuring commonality and a single source of truth.
It's time to get more out of the cloud
