Reimagine what's possible for your enterprise and realize the full potential of Deloitte's Azure cloud services

Deloitte can help you determine the most effective way to innovate, unlock value streams and reduce cost.

App modernization and migration involves more than transitioning legacy technology and processes to cloud. It involves a strategic redirection—thinking about the evolution of your company and what cloud can ultimately enable for your business. How it can unlock new potential and deliver newfound competitive advantage.

Drawing from our deep domain knowledge and extensive experience helping organizations navigate digital transformation, Deloitte looks at the big picture first. We start by focusing on your desired business outcomes and how to leverage cloud native capabilities to form an innovation core at the center of your strategy. Then, Deloitte's Microsoft Technology Services team prioritizes and sequences an approach to accelerate the realization of those value streams.

An end-to-end, value-focused approach—on an accelerated path.

Discovery and assessment

Identify modernization scenarios based on business priorities and business cases.

Readiness planning

Build a road map around modernization and migration types and complexity estimates based on current-state criteria.

Modernization and migration

Leverage intelligent automation and tooling to modernize and migrate applications in waves according to priority and organizational value.

Test, cutover, and operate

Offer day-to-day support and operation of the application(s) to cost-effectively meet service-level objectives.

Decommissioning services

Reduce technical debt and costs, and reinforce cybersecurity posture.

Transform manual processes to cloud-first principles and drive insights and value across your organization

Advance innovation while preserving "the core of the business"

Establish automation and AI foundations

Reduce operating costs, technical debt, potential vulnerabilities, and risk

Accelerate M&A agility and increase overall ROI

Achieve scalability, interoperability, and greater responsiveness
