WorkforceX

Financial Services Industry

A professional networking application

- Core HRIS Integration
- Enterprise application navigation
- Communications & surveys
- Profile self-service & connections
- Global deployment

The Opportunity

In 2021, the client was searching for a solution that would better connect their global workforce, empower hybrid working and more seamlessly connect people to core information and enterprise resources and each other.

The Solution

Deloitte partnered with the client to implement WorkforceX as their engagement layer, which would:

- Build capability by leveraging connections and establishing networks that cross borders, teams and spaces
- Improve engagement and operational efficiency on employee matters
- Improve the onboarding experience of new hires

Through integration to the core HRIS system coupled with unique components of personal information to be added by the employees, it was the ultimate professional and personal networking space.

It is where employees come to find each other, learn from each other, and stay connected to the organization culture.

The Outcome

They have provided a new way for employees to connect from anywhere, anytime and bring their personal and professional selves to work.

Through a more seamless experience to view and update personal information and that of others, it offers an internal networking solution that is modern, engaging and enriching.

They continue to explore ways in which they can bring the application to life and support culture and employee experience initiatives, and consolidates their people systems in one space.
