

Deloitte. Risk & Regulatory Technology

Reduce financial risk through transformation

Why change?

Organisations face increasing challenges in managing regulatory compliance and financial risk. These include complex regulatory requirements, inefficient compliance programs, and the need for effective data governance and risk management. Additionally, there is a demand for advanced technology solutions to optimise compliance processes and protect business value.

Benefits to Gain from Risk & Regulatory Technology

By partnering with Risk & Regulatory Technology, clients can efficiently manage compliance, reduce financial risk, and leverage data for competitive advantage. Our domain-led approach combines regulatory expertise with advanced technology solutions, providing an end-to-end view that optimises compliance programs and standardises processes.

What We Offer/Our Solution

We offer a comprehensive suite of services, including regulatory and financial analytics, data verification, fintech development, and data management and engineering for risk and regulatory domains. Our solutions are supported by strategic alliances with leading partners such as ServiceNow, Unify, and Fenegro, ensuring technological competence and brand strength.

Why Choose Deloitte

Deloitte has a proven track record of success in risk and regulatory technology, exemplified by our work with a major financial institution to transform its compliance program. This partnership resulted in a 40% reduction in compliance costs and enhanced risk management capabilities. Our commitment to excellence and innovation ensures that clients receive the highest level of service and support.
