

Designing the future of work with your people at the heart

The pandemic has significantly changed the way we work over the past year. As workers return to the office, you have an opportunity to learn from experience and reshape the future of work – it is time to focus on humanising work.

Did you know?

Humanising the future of work

You have an opportunity to re-engage your workforce and re-invent the workplace to energise and respond to changing requirements and expectations of employees, your customers and society. Deloitte can support you in adapting your work, workforce and workplace in this new environment.

WORK

- Organisation Design
- Work Objectives
- Processes
- Productivity

Work needs to be redesigned in order to support and promote constantly evolving business objectives in a rapidly changing environment

WORKPLACE

- Location
- Physical Design
- Culture
- Digital Collaboration

Shifting to new types of workspaces, demands re-thinking of employee communication and collaboration to maximise productivity and engagement

WORKFORCE

- Well-being
- Human Capabilities
- Workforce Experience
- Talent Options

Employee resilience and capabilities are crucial to keep up with the pace at which work is changing

Questions to consider

- What work can be done off-site and what must remain on-site?
- What changes need to occur in your digital and physical workplace to accommodate new ways of working?
- How will you maintain your unique culture across remote / hybrid / on-site workforces?
- How will you ensure workplace safety and individual well-being going forward?
- How will you support your leaders to manage hybrid teams?
- How do you create a sense of belonging for people who are not physically present?
