Our Alliance in Action

Unleashing legal and tax support

Thomson Reuters partnered with Deloitte and AWS to modernize how it delivers legal and regulatory expertise. The new cloud-based system accelerates product development, enhances research with machine learning, and integrates seamlessly into clients' workflows—resulting in faster insights, higher productivity, and stronger trust.

Turning up the power on responsiveness and reliability

Australian energy company Jemena worked with Deloitte and AWS to build an analytics platform powered by machine learning. It predicts energy usage, sends alerts to prevent high bills, and strengthens the grid's resilience—turning raw data from smart meters into better customer service and reliability.

Taking efficiency to new heights

Spirit AeroSystems modernized its manufacturing operations using Deloitte Smart Factory Fabric on AWS. The cloud-based system visualizes workflows, tracks materials in real time, and synchronizes machine activity, creating a connected, efficient, and transparent production environment.

Helping the helpers

The Utah Department of Human Services partnered with Deloitte and AWS to migrate its decades-old COBOL-based system to the cloud. The transformation was completed quickly, with zero downtime and at a fraction of traditional costs, enabling faster, more reliable service for hundreds of thousands of families.
