

ETP – Core’s Payroll Automation helps companies tackle their most pressing payroll management challenges by standardizing and automating the payroll process.

Deloitte’s solution-based approach

Deloitte’s Enterprise Tax Platform (ETP) helps organizations overcome their most pressing payroll management challenges, with their modules, Payroll Analytics and WKR Analytics.

Payroll Analytics reviews the entire payroll process by using standardized payroll reports submitted to tax authorities. Rather than analyzing only a sample of employees, Payroll Analytics conducts over 80 compliance tests, guaranteeing payroll accuracy. The results are shown on a user-friendly dashboard, where companies can gain valuable insights into their payroll data.

By using the reports and dashboards generated by Payroll Analytics, organizations can show their level of control and compliance with tax authorities. These insights let organizations proactively address errors or discrepancies. This proactive approach allows for timely corrections and adjustments, minimizing the risk of penalties or potential audits. Payroll Analytics’ insights can extend beyond compliance. For example, companies can view wage distribution based on factors such as age and gender, identifying any disparities.

WKR Analytics, on the other hand, enhances Deloitte’s consultancy services in the wage tax sphere. In the Netherlands, employers must assess whether employee benefits should be considered taxable income. WKR Analytics simplifies this by allowing companies to review and categorize employee benefits. This ensures that only relevant benefits are subjected to taxation, saving employers from unnecessary tax burdens.

Impact

The combined impact of Payroll Analytics, Payroll Automation, WKR Analytics, and Global Compensation Management has been significant for Deloitte's clients.

Automated calculations and streamlined processes have brought clients substantial time savings. These time savings mean increased efficiency and reduced costs, letting organizations focus their resources on more strategic initiatives.

Automated reviews and checks give clients a greater sense of control and confidence in their payroll processes. Deloitte's expertise in payroll analytics, combined with Payroll and WKR Analytics, allows for accurate calculations and minimizes the likelihood of errors. This lets organizations make informed decisions based on reliable payroll data.

The combination of Payroll Analytics, Payroll Automation, WKR Analytics, and Global Compensation Management (GCM) strengthens Deloitte's position as a trusted advisor. GCM extends the benefits of payroll management globally, simplifying complex calculations related to international employment. This comprehensive approach reduces manual labor, lowers costs, and increases compliance with tax regulations across multiple jurisdictions.
