

AEO Scan

Assisting companies to assess whether they meet the AEO requirements

Who can benefit?

Any economic operator established in the customs territory of the European Union that is currently AEO authorized or in the process of becoming AEO authorized.

AEO Scan is a useful application for companies that:

- Are not in full control of their AEO status or have insufficient insight in the criteria to become AEO authorized.
- Are unaware of the risks of being non compliant with AEO requirements or the loss of their AEO authorization.
- Would like to obtain more insight in their AEO application or maintenance process.

The AEO Scan is designed to assist and facilitate potential and current AEO authorized companies to assess to what extent the AEO requirements are fulfilled within their company.

Why now?

Being AEO compliant becomes ever more important. The customs authorities are increasing audits on the AEO status of companies.

- With the introduction of the Union Customs Code on the first of May 2016, AEO certified companies became automatically AEO certified under the new legislation. These certified companies and new applicants for AEO need to be able to present a completed self-assessment questionnaire ('SAQ') to the customs authorities.
- The AEO Scan enables your company to answer the 'SAQ' digitally and highlight attention points before they are flagged by the customs authorities.

Identify & reduce risk	AEO compliance

Service highlights

The AEO Scan is an innovative solution that helps to understand the difficult administrative processes with respect to the AEO requirements.

Main benefits of our AEO Scan:

- AEO compliance check before customs authorities get involved.
- Smart questioning.
- No paperwork.
- Easily understandable insight in the results of the AEO Scan by means of diagrams and color coding.
- Process overviews to facilitate AEO process management.

The AEO Scan helps to manage complexity, identifies risks and facilitates your company to become or remain AEO compliant.

Why Deloitte?

- Deloitte has years of experience in developing digital customs solutions.
- Deloitte is part of a network of Member Firms throughout Europe. Therefore we are able to assist you on AEO and other customs related matters throughout the EU.

The AEO Scan is the digital solution for your AEO application process and AEO maintenance. Possible issues will be detected before they are flagged by the customs authorities.
