

Trust Services

Designed specifically for trustees and their counsel

Our multi-disciplinary team

In an increasingly demanding business environment, with pressures from regulatory bodies and stakeholders in trust activities (beneficiaries, settlors, protectors and other interested parties), the focus on trustees has never been greater.

The legal, commercial, financial and professional risks to trustees who are responsible for complex portfolios of business continue to increase. More sophisticated beneficiaries and settlors are demanding greater transparency from trustees and placing trustees' performance and decisions under greater scrutiny.

To meet the needs of trustees and their counsel, Deloitte has established a multi-disciplinary team made up of professionals with a breadth of specialties including forensic and dispute, restructuring, risk advisory, valuations, corporate finance, consulting and tax.

Our team works closely with the trustees and their lawyers to find the right solution to any situation trustees may face.

Our Services

Led by financial advisory specialists with access to deep industry expertise, our Trust Services team provides independent assistance and advice to trustees and their counsel when faced with issues that could lead to potential disputes with other parties. These issues often arise when the risks faced by trustees have been heightened through a change in circumstances of the trust. ➔
