

The Business Chemistry Blog

Using science to improve the art of relationships Business Chemistry's lead researcher provides insights that can help you raise your level of performance, improve engagement, and become a more effective leader.

About the Business Chemistry Blog

From the Business chemistry archives...

Take a spin through our collection of past blog posts—your go-to vault for fresh ideas, practical tips, and witty takes on team dynamics, work relationships, and everyday leadership. Whether you're chasing creative inspiration, team hacks, or just a fresh perspective, we've packed these archives with science-backed insights and a little bit of fun—Business Chemistry style.

Scroll below, click any title, and rediscover why understanding people at work is worth the read. Happy exploring!

What if we're not so different after all?

November 2022

When an extrovert isn't just an extrovert, nor an introvert just an introvert

July 2022

Introvert? Extrovert? Or a little of each? How Business Chemistry relates

May 2022

Spring cleaning your relationships

March 2022

How Connecting Virtually Can Help Nudge Our Relationships Closer

January 2022

What will matter most when screen time becomes face time again?

September 2021

Could your best teammate be a computer?

July 2021

Could your computer understand people better than you?

June 2021

Grab your relationship battery pack

May 2021

Can you spot the business chemistry types in Halloween?

October 2020

Put your cape back on: Learn to hunch in a virtual Setting

October 2020

How your team can rally during tough times No Giants, no Tigers, no Cubby Bears, oh my!

May 2021

More from the Business chemistry archives...

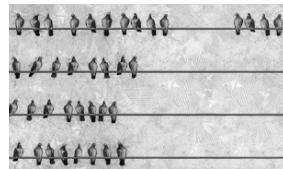

Encouraging collaboration when working remotely
April 2020

10 ways Business Chemistry can help you craft powerful work relationships
February 2020

Digging Deeper on Business chemistry
February 2020

Integrators in Hell: How to stop killing their potential
December 2019

Drivers in hell : How to stop killing their potential
December 2019

Guardians in Hell: How to stop killing their potential
September 2019

Pioneers in hell, How to stop killing their potential
August 2019

Why people think you don't appreciate them, even when you do
June 2019

Gift giving ideas inspired by work style preferences
June 2019

Slam dunk tips for a productive team
April 2019

The chemistry of trust: Eight ways to build more of it
April 2017

The business chemistry guide to navigating office holiday parties
December 2016

Hunching Pokémon hunters
August 2016

Business Chemistry do's and don'ts during times of stress
July 2016

Stressed at work? Is it your Business Chemistry?
July 2016

How to plan a meeting that people won't dread — Part II
July 2016

More from the Business chemistry archives...

How to plan a meeting that people won't dread
July 2016

Who are you when you're stressed?
May 2016

Business Chemistry matters when change is afloat
March 2016

Going with the flow: Cascades can hinder team decision-making
October 2015

It's a trap! Avert decision-making biases with Business Chemistry
September 2015

The Power of Opposites
September 2015

Pioneers vs. Guardians: The right balance for problem solving?
May 2015

Stuck in the status quo? Why guardians are risk averse
May 2015

Is that your final answer? Why integrators are so indecisive
May 2015

Direct or not, which is best?
April 2015

Unconscious bias in the work place—Business Chemistry as a solution?
April 2015

A leader's job is to get everyone's best contribution
April 2015

Flex your influence style to boost your impact
January 2015

This communication is for internal distribution and use only among personnel of Deloitte LLP and its respective affiliates ("Deloitte"). Deloitte shall not be responsible for any loss whatsoever sustained by any person who relies on this communication.

About Deloitte

Deloitte refers to one or more of Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu Limited, a UK private company limited by guarantee ("DTTL"), its network of member firms, and their related entities. DTTL and each of its member firms are legally separate and independent entities. DTTL (also referred to as "Deloitte Global") does not provide services to clients. In the United States, Deloitte refers to one or more of the US member firms of DTTL, their related entities that operate using the "Deloitte" name in the United States and their respective affiliates. Certain services may not be available to attest clients under the rules and regulations of public accounting. Please see www.deloitte.com/about to learn more about our global network of member firms.