Center for Board Effectiveness

Helping directors deliver value

Introduction

The Center for Board Effectiveness helps directors fulfill their oversight responsibility to the organizations they serve through a portfolio of high-quality, innovative experiences. Whether an individual is aspiring to board participation or has extensive board experience, the Center's programs can enable them to contribute effectively and become well-versed in important focus areas—like governance, audit, strategy, risk, innovation, compensation, technology, and succession.

The Center for Board Effectiveness mission:

Inform

Provide an extensive, suite of governance-focused content that not only educates directors, but helps turn both business goals and career aspirations into realities.

Connect

Create opportunities for directors to collaborate with peers and subject matter specialists across a wide range of topics.

Advance

Help develop directors' hard skills—and soft skills—so they can effectively lead organizations and other business leaders, while pursuing their own career opportunities.

Advance

Board and committee education

Facilitated educational labs—in-person and virtual—for boards and committees to better understand their role and responsibilities, stay on top of matters impacting their companies and the governance landscape, and help meet their required company board educational requirements. Not only that, but learn more about the board's agenda and areas where the board may need to anticipate innovation, disruption, and uncertainty.

Board-Ready Programs

Educational networking programs for current and retired executives who are looking for a public company board or directorship nomination, but who might not have a playbook for starting the journey. Attendees will share and gain insight into how to position themselves for board opportunities. Learn from subject matter specialists—current board members, board committee chairs, and search firms—who share their experiences and insights into becoming a board-viable candidate. A select number of senior executives are invited to each session, making for an intimate and in-depth exchange of ideas along with the opportunity to network with peers.

Board and audit committee labs

Unique experiences designed to help boards and audit committees explore their responsibilities, priorities, and practices, with an emphasis on effectiveness during times of transition. The half- to one-day customized sessions focus on enhancing the performance of board and audit committee members, both as individuals and as part of a high-functioning team. The facilitated programs incorporate leading practices from our research and extensive experience with boards and audit committees, as well as advance input from the participants' key stakeholders.
